Underhill Welcomes Jason Schwartz as New East Coast Regional Sales Manager

Underhill, a leading provider of innovative solutions for the golf, turf, agriculture, and landscape industries, is pleased to announce the addition of Jason Schwartz to their team as the new East Coast Regional Sales Manager. With his extensive experience and industry knowledge, Jason is set to make a significant impact on Underhill's distributor network and support the needs of their valued customers.

As an accomplished professional with over 17 years of experience in both distributor and manufacturer sales, Jason brings a wealth of expertise to his new role. Having managed sales for multiple manufacturers across various industries and markets, he possesses a deep understanding of the specific requirements and challenges faced by distributors and end-users in the golf, turf, agriculture, and landscape sectors.

Jason, who resides on the picturesque Gulf Coast of Florida, is a dedicated family man and has been happily married to his wife, Sarah, for 20 years. Together, they have a wonderful daughter named Zoe.

For more than 40 years, Underhill has been dedicated to producing high-quality, innovative products that make turf management and irrigation easier. With the introduction of Jason to the team, the company is well-positioned to strengthen its presence along the East Coast and elevate its position as a leader in its industry.
